

MAD STUDENT WHO LEAPED IN SEA WILL LIVE

Stephen Holman, the eighteen-year-old Ender Academy student who leaped into the ocean at Shirley Cove and nearly died from exposure, is reported today as doing nicely in Metcalf Hospital at Waltham.

Holman was found unconscious and half frozen in an unconscious and low at Point Shirley by Charles M. Orant and Charles A. Baird, who saw his hat and coat on the front veranda and heard moans coming through a broken window.

Holman does not seem to know how he got to Waltham and remembers nothing of his plunge into the sea. He does remember coming to his senses on the beach and fighting to keep from freezing in his wet garments.

The police say Holman was mentally deranged from overstudy and while in this condition threw himself into the ocean. The boy was brought him to his senses and he crawled out onto the beach. Realizing that he would have to die if he did not get to the bungalow, he broke a window and climbed inside.

He removed his coat, which was frozen stiff, before he was found on the couch where he was found.

One day last week Holman turned on the gas in his room at Waltham Hall, the senior dormitory at Ender Academy, and was nearly asphyxiated. He was sent to the home of relatives near Boston to recover his health.

BRADLEY GIRL DEFIANT; SEES FOSTER AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—Excluded from the gala in Hotel Windsor, in charge of her aunt, Delilah Bradley, the Pemberton, N. J. Sunday school teacher and stenographer, is in almost constant communication with Joel M. Foster, forty-five, wealthy poultry man, who eloped with her to Hoboken.

It is learned Foster will come here to meet the girl (only) and is planning to have her return for the defense of the girl's father and mother today confessed they are unable to prevent Foster from communicating with Foster and cannot shake her friend to return home.

Mr. Bradley successfully abetted he was in a quandary. He said efforts were made to induce his daughter with relatives, but he was not sure she would ever consent to that.

That Foster will meet Miss Bradley and her parents at the Windsor Hotel is the opinion expressed by a close friend of the family. It is said Mrs. Bradley has been advised that only in this way can further action be kept down.

A detective sent word to Foster that Miss Bradley was returned at the hotel on "Miss Helen City" of Times River, N. J.

Within five minutes Foster sent the following telegram, addressed to Miss Helen City:

Dear—Take the best possible care of yourself. You are all that I have in the world to live for. Will keep you well informed. Am anxious. Sincerely, J. M. Foster.

Mr. Bradley, in Pemberton, said: "I don't know whether Delilah will ever come home. I don't know what to do with her. The whole trouble is that Foster is continually sending her telegrams and she insists upon answering them."

CLARK CANCELS FEAST AT WHICH BRYAN IS GUEST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Government circles here are disquieted with the recent interest campaign of the Secretary of State in the refusal to attend a dinner at which Secretary of State Bryan was to be a guest. Thomas H. Puffer of Calvert Manor, near Haverhill, Md., is to be the host. The dinner was planned as a "love feast" when it was hoped the Bryan-Clark feud would be smoothed up.

In response to the invitation, Puffer Clark wrote:

"I have not yet said dinner and luncheon except these I feel under no obligation to attend in my official capacity."

"I did this for two reasons, first because I have not time to attend them. Second, Mr. Spofford once told me that most public men and army and navy officers who died in Washington 'dug their graves with their own teeth'—a saying which I took to heart."

"The public of the country are not interested in any considerable extent about dinners in Washington, but they are interested very much as to what Congress does and when it does it."

Senator Reed is to preside at the dinner, and among those who have accepted invitations are Secretaries Brown, Taft, and Lane, Postmaster Clegg, and Joseph E. C. Marchant, secretary to the President.

HERE ARE SOME ANSWERS IN THE TWISTER PUZZLE

The new "Brain Twister" in drawing attention is evident by the hundreds of letters pouring in daily to the puzzle editor of the AMERICAN. Most of the readers prefer to figure it out in algebra. Following are a few of the solutions received:

Kathryn Nuttal, No. 119 Pine street, Fall River, says the answer is fifty-six miles. G. F. Campbell, room 236 South Station, figures it as 67.5 miles. E. E. Carpenter of Weymouth answers, sixty-seven miles. J. B. Sullivan of No. 27 North Eighth street, Fall River, gives his solution as eighty-four miles. George G. Grimes of East Gloucester says the distance is seventy miles. James E. Cox to confound the answer is 67.5. John Rowe, No. 42 North Court street, Providence, agrees with him. Albert C. Withers of Cambridge is one of those who make the answer seventy.

Robert H. Brown of No. 473 Lynn street, Malden, and Frank H. Lawrence of South Barre, Vt., call it 67.5 miles.

J. C. Marchant of No. 63 Addison street, Chelsea, says the messenger walked fifty-six miles. Joseph Glones of No. 14 West Concord street, finds his answer to be forty-two miles. Herbert W. Sanborn declares the true answer is seventy miles. "A. B. D." of Berlin, N. H., thinks it is 67.5 miles. W. B. Clausen of No. 116 Richmond street reckons it as 67.5 miles. Chester Quill, of No. 248 Franklin street, Manchester, N. H., says 67.5 is the correct answer.

NEW BRAIN TWISTER Answer Early, Avoid the Rush REALLY IT'S TOO EASY

Here we are again—lest you forget, here is re-printed below the most puzzling brain teaser printed for a long time. Here's the problem:

A messenger leaves the rear of an army twenty-eight miles long as it begins its day's march.

He goes to the front and at once returns, reaching the rear when the army camps for the night.

How far did he travel, if the army marched twenty-eight miles during the day?

THE DREAM OF COLUMBUS FULFILLED

The first white man to set foot on the soil of Panama was the great discoverer, Columbus, just ten years after his first landing in America.

His great dream was for a continuous water passage to the west, leading to the East Indies. Every inlet and bay of Panama was carefully explored for a passage which would take his ships through to the Pacific Ocean. It remained for Balboa to prove the narrowness of the Isthmus, and to first gaze on the waters of the Pacific.

Man has at last accomplished what nature did not provide. The two great oceans have been connected by a mighty artificial water highway. The locks of the Panama Canal can accommodate the greatest ocean liners, with room to spare. The most gigantic wonder of the world has sprung into existence.

Take the PANAMA Trip By Courtesy of The Boston American

TURN OVER to the first line and you are off on your journey. The balmy breezes of the ocean put you in just the right frame of mind for what is to come. You are moving along seeing it all, feeling it all, laughing one minute, crying the next, and learning something all the time. Panama is the grandest land of romance in all the world. It is the land of PIRATES—Panama was the stamping ground of the bold buccannery of the Spanish Main. The story of these swashbuckling adventures makes your blood thrill as you follow Mr. Abbot.

INTRIGUE—Panama has been the checkboard for great diplomatic games here and abroad. The big nations have realized that the little strip of land might be the future pivot point in a great world war. The inside story of it all is told in this book.

GOLD—The Spaniards crossed the Isthmus for the yellow treasure, fought the Indians, and practised untold atrocities. The "Peters" made it their lane to the goldfields of California.

WAR—Wars have raged for centuries. There was an average of a revolution a year on the Isthmus until the United States "took Panama." When man wasn't fighting nature he was fighting his fellow man. Mr. Abbot tells about it in a thrilling way.

POLITICS—When the United States took Panama it played a bold game of politics that changed the map of the world. Was it justified in what it did? The book gives the facts without prejudice, and you can form your own opinion.

SANITATION—For centuries fevers raised a barrier as impassable as the jungle itself. They made the Isthmus a lane of graves. Uncle Sam conquered the dread Yellow Jack, and made it possible to live and work. Read how it was done. It's a wonderful story.

TRIUMPH—When America dug the canal she did what the world did not think possible. She has achieved the greatest engineering triumph in the history of the world. You will want to throw up your hat at the glory of it.

Panama and the Canal In Picture and Prose

Is, from any standpoint of comparison, worth its full regular price of $4.00. It is in many respects worth much more than regular books of travel selling at considerably more than that sum. You need not take our word for it, however. A few minutes of your time looking over the book of the Boston American office, will furnish convincing proof. The book contains over 400 pages of text and 644 photographic illustrations. The pages are 9x12 inches in size. The type is large and clear, the paper specially made by one of the best manufacturers. The cover is a rich tropical red velvet.

644 PHOTOGRAPHIC ILLUSTRATIONS

The wealth and number of the illustrations are bewildering and exceed the wildest anticipations of the most exacting booklover. There are 644 exclusive photographs to illustrate the text. Every page is illustrated. In addition there are 16 full page color paintings of Panama scenes, made especially for this book by the noted artist, E. J. Reed. No book has ever been more completely illustrated with photographs and color plates than "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose."

The expense to accomplish this result was enormous; the result is a comprehensive Panama book, so authentic and complete as to be so far ahead of any other that a comparison would be ridiculous.

AWAIT ARRESTS IN BIG MALDEN VICE CRUSADE

The vice crusade in Malden is about to culminate in sensational prosecutions against prominent Malden men and women, according to statements made today by those in charge of the investigations.

While heretofore only juveniles have been prosecuted, evidence has now been secured against thirty-seven men and women, who are expected to be haled into court.

To date there have been thirty arrests and convictions, all made through the activity of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, to whom Malden parents appealed when the police turned a deaf ear to their complaints.

The wholesale nature of the evidence secured by the society's agents roused the citizens to action. A special citizens committee has been formed and they are forcing the police to activity.

So much evidence has been secured that an assistant to the police inspector has been put to work on the cases. It is said that the evidence collected by them is soon to be presented to Judge Bruce of the Malden Court.

Some of Malden's most prominent citizens, both men and women, have enlisted in the crusade to purify the city. Among them are William F. Dickford, former chairman of the Malden school board and one of the leading realtors; Miss Emma L. Felt, a member of the School Board and former women's probation officer at Springfield; A. C. Representative Thomas J. Hawley, Joseph Wagon, Miss Ella J. Wilson, Master Clifford A. Smith of the Maplewood Grammar School and others equally prominent.

In addition to the Rev. Charles H. Moss of the First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Louis H. Hough of the Centre Methodist Church.

Long Hours Worse Than Cigarettes

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Oscar F. Nelson, head of the Illinois State Department of Factory Inspection, declared at a meeting of the Open Forum that Illinois needs a law prohibiting children under sixteen from working in factories and mercantile establishments.

"Don't you think smoking cigarettes is more dangerous to boys than working ten hours?" interrogated a man.

"The health of the boys is better if they have fresh air and a few cigarettes than if they are penned in stuffy rooms," Mr. Nelson answered.

The A B C's Of Advertising

ADVERTISERS—who know do not expect each dollar invested in advertising today to return tomorrow bringing profits with it. They know by experience that this is not the logical method of building business.

They know that part of every advertising dollar properly spent goes into creating "good will," establishing prestige, educating patronage—into future assets, as it were.

The profits they are receiving today are the result not only of yesterday's advertising but of weeks, months, perhaps even years, gone by.

If then they had failed to make good their advertising promises, they would scarcely be in a position to advertise today. More than likely they would not be in business at all.

On the other hand, those who have back of them a record of sales to a steadily increasing number of satisfied buyers, should naturally be planning still greater sales and more and more buyers.

As every successful advertiser knows, it isn't price inducements alone that attract patronage. It's Quality and Style and Distinctiveness—each one of importance easily equal to price.

It is all these things combined that go to make attractive offerings. Then if the appeal is properly presented—if it is placed before an audience of sufficient size and responsiveness—success is certain.

With truthfulness and integrity the advertiser builds up a bulwark that will forever stand between him and adverse circumstances—a bulwark of public confidence built on good faith.

And advertising that fails to provide such protection is the only advertising that does not pay. Advertising to be successful must do more than create business for today. It must build business for tomorrow.

It must be backed by flawless merchandise and sincere service. It must make a friend every time it makes a sale. That kind of advertising cannot fail nor can the merchant who is responsible for it.

To have the confidence of the community is to have a business asset beyond all price—a form of business insurance that safeguards against fire and flood, famine and failure. And to strengthen and spread this confidence—to increase this asset—to make surer this insurance—is to advertise constantly and consistently.

And These Are the A B C's of Successful Advertising

Today sees a campaign started which will increase the efficiency of every advertising dollar invested with these primary principles in mind. In this campaign it is the American's purpose to help promote bigger business for Boston.

This purpose, backed by an advertising appropriation of $52,000, is in itself sufficient evidence of "the faith that is within us"—faith in the Boston American as an effective advertising medium that will not disappoint new patrons because it has always justified the confidence of the old.

USE BUSINESS METHODS FOR CHURCH DAY

Business men of Boston are planning for their churches to adopt business measures for the observance of Go-to-Church Day, February 8.

The People's Temple, Columbus avenue, has printed Go-to-Church Day report blanks under the charge of W. A. Thurston, chairman of the general committee of that church. Twenty captains and 210 lieutenants are enrolled in this work. Lieutenants are expected to observe the following rules:

"When you give a Go-to-Church Day button, please the wearer to attend some church service on this special day."

"Write his name and address plainly on the report slip and the pastor will send a personal letter to each person accepting a button."

"Every lieutenant is requested to call up some person on the telephone every day, asking them to attend some church."

"Every lieutenant is expected to get 30 uses of as many automobiles as that day as possible." Twenty-five have been donated.

"This church will also furnish hot chocolate and cake to the elderly persons just as soon as they arrive in church."

"EVERYONE WORKING." Chairman W. A. Thurston said: "We have arranged to have everything done in a business way in our church. With the aid of our advisory committee and captains and lieutenants, we shall be able to grasp this whole situation in a proper way."

"To make this Go-to-Church Day a thorough success, we must apply rock-solid business principles to it. Never were people so much aroused over any movement as this in our section."

"We have every one in the church working. We have every one telephoning about it. Postal cards will be written by others, calling attention to the day."

"We shall have exactly every week from our lieutenants who return reports containing the names of the wearers of the buttons how many are working in this cause."

"If every church in Boston would get to work on business principles and manage this campaign for church sales in a systematic way, you could get the business man interested and help him to push the enterprise along—and much more, keep it up after the day has been observed."

"The Rockland churches have organized. Go-to-Church Day cards will be left at the houses in town. Many of the young people have promised to write postal cards to non-church-goers. H. M. White, M. W. Wright and J. S. Smith are on the general publicity committee, with D. B. Wise and Everett Alley on the street and house-to-house canvass. The Rockland Y. M. C. A. will help in getting every one out to church."

ASKS UNITED ACTION. The Rev. Dr. S. H. Robin addressed the ministers of the South End in the Universalist church, Columbus avenue, yesterday, calling for united action on the part of all the churches. He said:

"This is not a movement for one church, but for all churches. It is not merely a movement for one day, the Sunday, February 8, but to get the spirit of church-going aroused and continued in every community. It is a general united movement on the part of every church. As such, it deserves the support and co-operation of the best citizens."

Nonsectarian churches will hold a Go-to-Church Day meeting on Thursday evening, January 22, in Unity church.

'LURE' STAR, SUED FOR $50,000, SAYS 'I WAS LURED, NOT A LURE'

Lola May, leading woman of the "Lure" Company, who says Broder Crandall pursued her.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Lola May, madam woman of the "Lure" company, in defending herself against the $50,000 libel suit brought by Mrs. Marie Crandall, gave sensational insight into the forces that harass a successful actress when she charged that Crandall annoyed her with attentions and forced his company upon her.

"I did not pursue," she declared. "I made no effort to win the friendship of Mr. Crandall. In fact, once I learned he was a married man, I made every possible effort to avoid him."

"That was very early in our acquaintance. Yet from that time to the present, it has been a struggle to keep him from me. He has persistently forced himself upon me."

"It is ridiculous to say that I lured him to me. If anything—I was lured."

"My profession is one which, in the public mind, is particularly open to attack such as this. I desire to say that the majority of those I know on the stage are good men and women."

"Crandall is a former stock broker, fifty-five years old, and married from his wife."

When Mrs. May's charge was reported to Mrs. Crandall she said: "If Mr. Crandall has ever molested I will sue him."

BETTER TIMES COMING, SAYS GEORGE GOULD

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—George J. Gould, national president, and Louis H. Kaufman, president of the Chamber and Commerce National Association, joined the Standard Club of the American.

Mr. Gould, discussing general business conditions and the outlook, said: "I am optimistic."

A long time has been one of extreme conservatism. I believe business will be better.

"In my judgment, the situation depends largely upon the attitude of the Washington administration. If it is friendly and conciliatory, we should have decidedly better times."

"The country is rich, and it is reasonably safe to assume that we will have fairly good crops, to say the least, the coming season."

Mr. Kaufman, head of two banks which have large depositors resorting practically all lines of trade, said:

"I am an optimist, and believe the brains and ingenuity of the American people are bound to pull the country through all difficulties."

"We have had a recession in business, and it may continue several months more, but I look for better business this year."

BAYLES PUTS THE BLAME ON LOCAL RAILROAD DEPRESSION

Walter C. Bayers of Boston, a member of the directorates of many industrial enterprises in New England, said to an AMERICAN reporter today:

"The reason for the business depression was the fact that the biggest customer, the railroad, has been taken out of the market. No one will deny that they are the biggest customer and now, because of lack of credit and lack of confidence in the future, they are not purchasing anything. The railroads are also the largest employers of labor, and what affects them must necessarily affect their army of workers indirectly."

Consequently prosperity for many thousands of individuals.

It would be no more than fair to give to the railroads the 3 per cent increase in rates requested by them and thereby secure the normal manufacturing increases in wages of employees. With improved credit and normal manufacturing brought about by this increase, I believe we could look for fairly good business in the future. If the crops especially are good I see no reason why we should not have a prosperous year during 1914."

WOMEN STARVE IN BULGARIA, SAYS CROSFIELD

LOANSON, Jan. 21.—James B. Crofield, a prominent Quaker philanthropist who has recently returned to London after a five months' trip on relief work through Bulgaria, gave the AMERICAN much information on the present appalling distress among the Bulgarian population.

Crofield distributed $25,000 of his own money among the refugees at all nationalities and also personally visited fifty-five small towns and villages in addition to distributing relief on behalf of friends and the war relief fund.

"My mission was among the non-combatants," explained Crofield. "The wives and children of the soldiers who fought in the war were entirely unprepared for all the suffering which the population were called on to suffer. In every village their families were left behind without any means of subsistence."

"They were worse off in the towns than in the villages, because all the industries are closed down and stopped, whereas in the country districts agricultural work of some kind can be obtained."

"That they are now in a terrible state of distress is beyond doubt. The warlike refugees now are almost entirely those from the towns, who are being supported by Turkey, Greece and Serbia."

"DRINK WHISKY"

Don't kiss—the other person may have a cold. Colds are contagious.

Beware of the person who sneezes in a crowded car or dance hall, for you may catch a few million of the cold germs in the air.

After tangoing in a dance hall, wait a few moments before going into the cold night air.

A good drink of whisky with a hot shower bath will usually break the severest cold. This is called the "whiskey treatment."
